

Major Production Underway in Alabamas

Southern Inyo became host to a major motion picture production company last week when trucks from Twentieth Century Fox studios unloaded a large crew of technicians and actors at the Dow Hotel. Shooting was begun immediately on an elaborate farm set which was constructed in the Alabamas two weeks ago.

The picture stars Gregory Peck and Anne Baxter and features a large cast of well-known screen personalities including Richard Widmark, Henry Morgan and Bob Arthur. Tentatively titled "Yellow Skies," the film depicts the post-war period of the Civil War. Wm. Wellman, director of the recently released "Iron Curtain," is director and Lamar Trotti wrote the screen play.

The company will be shooting in the Lone Pine area for about three weeks.
